“SECRET REPORT”

ENERGY TRANSFORMATION - YOUR SECRET POWER

The meaning of the word transmute is to change or alter in form, appearance, or nature one element or form of energy into another.

The emotion of sexual energy brings into being the most powerful vibratory level of your mind that you can achieve.

This state of mind is generally associated with the physical actions of sex. Because of negative influences and ignorance on this subject, sexual activity is viewed only physical in nature. The physical gratification of the activity gives us a rewarding response. This then becomes a habitual reward within the mind.

The emotion of sex has the possibility of three constructive purposes. They are:

1. The perpetuation of mankind.
2. As a maintenance of health as a therapeutic tool, there is no equal.

3. The transformation of mediocrity into genius through its transmutation into your goals and desires

Transmutation of Sexual Energy is simple and easily explained. It is the switching of the mind from thoughts of physical expression to the thoughts of some other nature, typically, the goal or desire you quest. Building up of strong emotions then reassigning them and releasing these enormous emotions into your desired effect.

Sexual desire is the most powerful of human desires. When driven by this desire, man develops the finely tuned qualities of imagination, courage, will-power, persistence, and creative ability, previously unknown to him.

So strong and compelling is the desire for sexual contact that a man freely runs the risk of life and reputation to indulge it. A man will, at times, forsake his family, friends, careers, and his freedom for the lust of a woman.

On the contrary, seldom will a woman forsake her nurturing nature to build up such strong sexual emotions to destroy her life, family or career.

You Secret Power – Sexual Transformation

When a man's sexual energy is harnessed and redirected along other lines, this motivating force maintains all of its powerful attributes of imagination, courage, will-power, persistence, and creative ability. Which is then used as powerful creative forces in literature, art, careers, goals, athletic acumen or in any other desires or goals. This also includes the accumulation of wealth and power and health.

Any man can direct his great reservoir of sexual energy into helping his prosperity drive. If you understand how women help men become successful, you too, can take full advantage of this ageless secret.

The transmutation of sexual energy calls for the exercise of extreme willpower, but the reward is worth the effort.

The desire for sexual expression is innate and natural and many times overwhelming. We see this in sexual predators and the well know playboys in many of the glorious careers in the world.

The desire cannot and should not be submerged, suppressed or eliminated. But it should be channeled and given an outlet of expression which enriches the body, mind, and spirit of man. If not given this outlet, through the process known as transmutation, sexual energy and desire will seek outlets through purely physical actions and sometimes antisocial behavior activities.

A river can be damned and its water blocked for a time but eventually the water will force a release. The same is true of the emotion of sexual energy.

It may be suppressed and controlled for a time, but its very nature causes it to be ever seeking means of expression. If it is not transmuted into some creative effort it will find a more physical outlet.

THE DRIVING POWER

The individual who has discovered how to give this sexual emotion an avenue for release through some form of creative effort, has much in common with geniuses in Arts, Music, Sports, corporate and world leaders.

Scientific research has revealed these significant facts:

1. The men of greatest achievement are men with highly developed sexual natures, men who have learned the art of sexual transmutation.

2. The men who have accumulated great fortunes and achieved outstanding recognition in literature, the arts, industry, architecture, and the professions were motivated by the influence of a woman. Sometimes many women, which gets them into public scandals.

The emotion of sexual energy is an irresistible force against which there can be no such opposition as an immovable body.

When driven by this emotion, men become gifted with a superpower for action. Understand this truth, and you will learn the significance of the statement that sexual transmutation contains the secret of creative ability, your secret power!

The research from which these discoveries were made went back through the pages of history for more than 2000 years.

There is evidence available in connection with the lives of men and women of great achievement, that indicated most convincingly that they lead highly developed sexual lives.

Destroy the sex glands, whether in man or animal, and you have removed a major source of action. For proof of this observe what happens to any animal after it has been castrated. A bull becomes as docile as a cow, a stallion once gelded becomes as manageable as a mare. Sex alteration takes out of the male, whether man or beast, all the fight and desire that was in him.

Remove the sex organs of a woman and there is no significant changes from raging to docile. There is not the same effect. The major differences in a male and female in the very basic animalistic forms. The man the hunter, the woman the nurturer and peace maker.

MIND STIMULI

The human mind responds to stimuli, this stimulation will arouse the mind to higher rates of vibration known as enthusiasm, creative imagination, an intense desire.

Think how many ways you are stimulated on a sexual nature. Imagination, a fantasy, or just dreaming or was it lusting over a beautiful woman?

A man's sexual prowess is an untamed unleashed force of energy that when harnessed will overcome any obstacle and conquer any desire.

The stimuli which the mind responds most readily to include:

- 1.. The desire for sexual expression.
2. Love and Security
3. A burning desire for fame, power, financial gain, or money.
4. Music.

5. Friendship between either those of the same sex or those of the opposite sex.

6. A mastermind alliance based upon the harmony of two or more people who ally themselves for spiritual or temporal achievement.

7. Mutual suffering, such as that experienced by people who are persecuted.

8. Autosuggestion.

9. Fear.

10. Narcotics and alcohol.

The desire for sexual expression comes at the head of the list of stimuli which is the stimuli that most effectively steps up the mind and starts the wheels of action.

Eight of these stimuli are natural and constructive. Two are destructive. This list allows you to make a comparative study of the major sources of minds stimulation.

It is seen that the emotion of sexual energy is the most intense and powerful of all mind stimuli. Sexual Energy is also the hardest emotion to control.

GENIUS

The definition of a genius is an individual who has discovered how to increase the intensity of thought to the point where he can freely communicate with sources of knowledge not available through ordinary thought channels. And that person who can tap into that Infinite Universe of knowledge.

The person who ponders this statement will want to ask some questions concerning this definition of genius. The first question should be, "how may one communicate with sources of knowledge which are not available through ordinary thought"?

The next question we want to ask then, are there known sources of knowledge which are available only to geniuses and if so what are the sources, and exactly how may they be reached?

*"The mind is everything,
What we think, we become."*

– Buddha

SIXTH SENSE

The reality of the existence of a sixth sense has been fairly well established. The sixth sense is creative imagination and intuition.

The faculty of creative imagination is one which the majority of people never use during their entire lifetime, and if used at all, it usually happens by mere accident.

A relatively small number of people use, with the deliberate and purposeful thought, the faculty of creative imagination. Those who use this faculty voluntarily, and with understanding of its function, are geniuses.

The faculty of creative imagination is the direct link between the finite mind of man and the infinite intelligence. All discoveries of basic and new principles take place through the faculty of creative imagination.

When ideas or concepts flash into one's mind through what we call a "intuitive hunch", they come from one or more of the following sources:

1. Infinite intelligence.
2. The subconscious mind, where every sense impression and thought is stored.
3. From the mind of some other person who has just released the thought or picture of the idea or concept through conscious thought.
4. From another person's subconscious mind.

There are no other known sources from which inspired ideas or intuitive hunches may be received.

When the mind vibration is elevated by one or more of the 8 positive mind stimulants, it has the effect of lifting the individual far above the horizon of ordinary thought.

This permits him to envision distance, scope, and quality of thoughts not available on the lower plain, where one is engaged in the solution of the problems of normal business and professional routine.

When lifted to this higher level of thought through any form of mind stimulation, an individual is relatively in the same position as one who has ascended in an airplane to a height from which he may see over and beyond the horizon line which has been limiting his vision while on the ground.

While on this higher level of thought you are not encumbered or limited by any of the distractions which will limit your vision while dealing with the problems of ordinary life.

At this higher level, you are in a world of thought in which the ordinary, workaday thoughts have been as effectively removed, just as are the hills and valleys and other limitations of physical vision when you ascend in an airplane.

While on this elevated plane of thought, you create a faculty of the mind which gives you the freedom for action. This way you have been cleared for the sixth sense (your intuition) to function.

You become receptive to ideas which could not reach you under any other circumstances. The sixth sense is the faculty which makes the difference between a genius and an ordinary individual.

Every mental image which you allowed to take complete control of your mind tends to be realized.

The creative faculty of the mind becomes more alert and receptive to factors originating outside your subconscious mind. The more this faculty is used and the more you rely upon it, the stronger and easier it becomes. Just like exercising will build muscles, this faculty can and must be cultivated and developed only through its continued use.

The great artists, writers, musicians and poets become great because they acquired the habit of relying upon the intuitive voice which speaks to them from within, through the faculty of creative imagination. It is a well-known fact that people who have these creative imaginations receive their best ideas through so called “hunches”.

One of America’s most successful and best-known financiers followed the habit of closing his eyes for two or three minutes before making a decision.

When asked why he did this, he replied, “with my eyes closed, I am able to draw upon a source of superior intelligence.”

SOURCE OF GENIUS

The major difference between the genius and the ordinary man may be found in the fact that the genius works through the faculty of creative imagination while the average man knows nothing of this faculty.

The scientific inventor makes use of both the conscious and the creative faculties of imagination. As an example, the scientific inventor begins an invention by organizing and combining the ideas and principles accumulated through experience, through the conscious faculty, the faculty of reasoning.

If he finds this knowledge to be insufficient for the completion of his invention, he then draws upon the sources of knowledge available to him through his creative imaginative faculty.

The method by which he does this varies with the individual, but this is the essence of this procedure:

1. He stimulates his mind so that it functions on a higher than average plane, using one or more of the 10 mind stimulants earlier described.

2. He concentrates upon the known factors of his desire, and creates in his mind a perfect picture of unknown factors of his desire. He holds this picture in his mind until it has been taken over by the subconscious mind, then relaxes by clearing his mind of all thought and waits for the answer to flash into his mind.

Sometimes the results can be both definite and immediate. At other times the results are slow to arrive, depending upon the state of development of the sixth sense or the creative faculty.

Thomas Edison tried out more than 10,000 different combinations of ideas through his conscious faculty before he tuned in through the creative faculty and got the answer which perfected the incandescent light bulb. His experience was similar when he produced the phonograph.

“You must be the change you want to see in the world.”
– Ghandi

There is a plethora of reliable evidence that the faculty of creative imagination exists. This evidence is available through accurate analysis of men who have become leaders in their respective careers, without having had extensive educational backgrounds.

The pages of history are filled with the records of great leaders whose achievements may be traced directly to the influence of a women who aroused the creative faculties of their minds through the stimulation of sexual desire. Napoleon Bonaparte was one of these. When inspired by his first wife, Josephine, he was invincible. When his better judgment or reasoning faculty prompted him to put Josephine aside, he began his decline.

We could easily mention scores of men, who climbed to great heights of achievement under the stimulating influence of their wives, only to drop back to destruction after money and power went to their heads, and they put aside their old wife for a new one. Think how many past U.S. Presidents had illicit and sordid affairs, destroying their effectiveness and credibility in office.

Among the greatest and most powerful of these stimuli is the urge for sex and quest for sexual energy. When harnessed and transmuted this amazing driving force is capable of lifting men into that higher sphere of thought which enables them to master the source of worry and petty annoyance which obstructs their paths on their way to completing goals.

Here's what I am trying to say, there is a fine line between the harnessing of sexual energy and the uncontrollable urges that exist if this incredible energy source is not transmuted properly and channeled directly to your goal sets. Directing this energy level to a your minds visual picture of the goal or desire completed is mandatory. This picture can be a movie playing in your mind, an imaginary vision or simply a fantasy. But fill it with sound, smell, and the emotion of being completed.

When we look at biographies, each of whom was known to have been of a highly sexed nature, reached levels of greatness. The genius which was in each of these people, found their source of power through transmuting sexual energy:

George Washington, Maria de Naglowska, Thomas Jefferson, Dante Alighieri, Napoleon Bonaparte, Elbert Hubbard, William Shakespeare, Beethoven, Elbert H. Gary, Abraham Lincoln, Woodrow Wilson, Henry Thoreau, Leonardo Da Vinci, Ralph Waldo Emerson, John H. Patterson, Nikola Tesla, Robert Burns, Joan of Arc, Andrew Jackson, Gandhi, Richard Wagner and more recently, JFK, Mother Teresa, Andy Warhol, Steve Jobs, and Bill Clinton

Sexual energy is the creative energy of all geniuses. There never has been, and never will be a great leader, builder, or artists lacking in this driving force.

I am not insinuating that all highly sexed individuals are geniuses, but transmutation of energy is a key factor in every genius. Man reaches the stature of genius only when and if he stimulates his mind and draws upon the forces available through the creative faculty of the imagination.

Again, I reiterate, the number one stimuli with which creates this phenomena is sexual energy. The mere possession of this energy is not sufficient to produce a genius. The energy must be transmuted from desire for physical sexual contact into some other form of desire and action before it will lift you to the status of a success.

Because of great sexual desires and the inability to transmute this energy, most individuals are far from becoming genius. The majority of men lower themselves, through misunderstanding and misuse of this great force to the status of the lower animals looking solely for physical gratification.

ENERGY IS WASTED

From an analytical study of over 25,000 people, the men who succeed in an outstanding way seldom do so before the age of 40 and more often they do not strike their real success until they are well beyond the age of 50. This fact was so astounding that it prompted a study of its cause.

The study disclosed the fact that the major reason why most of men who succeed do not begin to do so before the age of 40 to 50, is their tendency to dissipate their energies through overindulgence and physical expression of their sexual energy.

The majority of men never learned that the urge of sex has other possibilities, which far transcend the mere physical gratification. The majority of those who make this discovery, do so after having wasting many years at a period when sexual energy is at its peak, prior to the age of 40 to 50.

These men, after this 40-year learning process started seeing achievements and successes after the age 50.

The desire for sexual expression is by far the strongest and most telling of all human emotions. This desire when harnessed and transmuted into action will raise an individual to great success.

It is a well-known fact to psychologists and anthropologists that there is a very close relationship between sexual desires and spiritual urges. A fact which accounts for the particular behavior of people who participate in the ceremonies known as religious revivals, rituals and rites.

The world is ruled and the destiny of civilization is shaped by human emotions.

People are influenced in their actions, not by reason but by feelings and emotions. The creative faculty of the mind is set in action entirely by these emotions, and not by reasoning.

The most powerful of all human emotions is that of sex. There are other mind stimulants, some of which have been listed but none of them can equal the driving force of sexual energy.

A mind stimulant is any influence which will either temporarily or permanently increase the intensity of thought. The 10 major stimuli described earlier are the most common ones. Through these stimuli we can communicate with infinite intelligence and access the subconscious mind. Remember that what the mind expects tends to be realized.

Access to the mind is done with imagination (using visualization, imagery or fantasy) and extremely strong emotions. A function which is part of the tool set of a genius.

SALESMANSHIP

An instructor who has trained and directed the efforts of more than 30,000 salespeople made an astounding discovery that highly sexed men are most efficient salesmen. The explanation is that the part of personality known as personal magnetism is nothing more nor less than sexual energy. Highly sexed people always have a plentiful supply of magnetism and energy.

Through the harnessing and cultivation of sexual energy, this vital force energy may be drawn upon and used to create an advantage in the relationships between people. This energy may be communicated to others through the handshake, the tone of one's voice, the posture and presence of the body, the vibrations of one's thoughts as they enter a room.

The touch of the hand indicates instantly the presence of magnetism or the lack of it. Magnetism or sexual energy is the factor with which the voice may be colored or made musical or charming.

Have you ever sat in a public place and someone walks in and the area becomes quiet and all attention is directed to that person? Something magnetic? Some attraction?

Some charisma? Well with sexual energy, you can be that person. Try it, correct your posture, head high, project an aura ahead of you filled with sexual energy. The watch the results.

Highly sexed people move briskly and with grace.

Highly sexed people makes the emotion of their sexual energy felt within their thoughts and in the way they influence those around them. People who are highly sexed are very careful about their personal appearance. They usually select clothing to match the style most fitting their personality, physical appearance and mental mood. High self-esteem and proud of being themselves.

When hiring a salesman, the most capable sales manager looks for the quality of personal magnetism as the first requirement. People who lack sexual energy will never become enthusiastic and will never inspire others with enthusiasm. Enthusiasm is one of the most important prerequisites in salesmanship, and the most contagious to the client, no matter what one is selling.

The public speaker, pastor, lawyer or salesman who is lacking in sexual energy is a failure in their ability to influence others. Couple with this the fact that most people can influence only through an appeal to their emotions, and you will understand the importance of sexual energy.

The successful salesmen attain the status of greatness in selling because they either consciously or unconsciously transmute their sexual energy into sales enthusiasm.

The salesman who knows how to take his mind off the subject of physical sex and redirect it into sales effort with as much enthusiasm and determination has acquired the art of sexual transmutation.

Transmutation of sexual energy calls for more willpower than the average person cares to use for this purpose. Though transmutation requires great amounts willpower, the reward for the practice of transmutation is more than worth the effort.

BENEFITS ASSOCIATED WITH TRANSMUTATION

Anyone with a sex drive, large or small can practice and benefit from sexual transmutation. This is also a practice that suits anyone of any spiritual or religious persuasion to heighten awareness mentally. But practice is essential. Like learning to play the piano, yeah you can hit the keys but it takes much practice to create wonderful music.

The Most Common Benefits Include:

- High mental focus and mental clarity
- Increased creativity, whether music, art or design
- Incredible drive and motivation
- A super boost of physical energy
- Heightened level of self-esteem and confidence
- Improved happiness and mood
- Absolute ability to manifest your desired change
- Boosting of your self-awareness
- Intense spiritual awareness and experiences

FALSE BELIEFS

The subject of sex is something that most people want to ignore or feel awkward talking about. The urge of sex has been grossly misunderstood by the masses and perverted the minds of some individuals call it evil.

Religious groups and churches shone the thoughts of sex and sexual energy. They teach that this is for procreation purposes only. These teaching hold down large numbers of people from ever attaining greatness or genius levels. Could this be done purposely?

Men and women who are known to be innately blessed with a highly sexed nature are usually looked upon as being people who are cursed. Millions of people have inferiority complexes which they developed because of the false belief associated with being that highly sexed individual. Cast out by their educational institutions and places of worship.

These comments on the virtue of sexual energy should not be construed as justification for the disingenuous. The emotion of sex is a virtue only when harnessed and transmuted into your desires and goals. It may be and often is misused to such an extent that it detracts instead of enriching the body and mind.

You Secret Power – Sexual Transformation

Every person knows that stimulation in excess through alcoholic drink and narcotics is destructive. Not every person knows however that overindulgence in sexual expression may be a habit as destructive and as debilitating as over use of drugs and alcohol.

And it is sometimes seen that ignorance of sexual transmutation can force issues and penalize an individual. On the flip side, knowledge and harnessing this incredible power releases huge benefits and will enrich your life and the lives around you.

Widespread lack of knowledge on sexual energy is due to the subject being surrounded with mystery and silence. Not any lessons are taught concerning transmutation, and there is a conspiracy in the silence of this secret power that has the same effect upon our minds as illegal drug use or excessive drinking and smoking. Many do not want this secret power known.

“Our thoughts are literally creating our experiences.”
– Oprah Winfrey

The result has been increased physical gratification of sex rather than learning the secret, how to transmute this sexual energy.

THE LESSON

In general, after the age of 50, a man begins to learn the art of sexual transmutation. This is usually discovered accidental and this man who makes this discovery is totally unconscious of what he has found.

He may observe that his powers of achievement have increased around the age of 50, but he is not familiar with the cause of this change.

Nature begins to harmonize the emotions of love and sex in an individual at the age of around 50 so that he may draw upon these great forces and apply them jointly as stimuli to action.

Sexual energy alone is a mighty call to action, but its force is like a hurricane, many times you are unable to control the direction and power. When the emotion of love begins to mix itself with the emotion of sex there is a calming effect resulting in increased amount of poise, accuracy, judgment, and balance.

When driven by a desire to please a women, a man is capable of great achievement. Although these actions may be misdirected, disorganized, distorted, or destructive. When his desire is based upon the motive of sex alone a man is capable of stealing, cheating, or even commit murder.

EMOTION OF LOVE

When the emotion of love is mixed with the emotion of sex that same man will guide his actions with more sanity, more morale grounding and reasoning. Love, romance, and sex are all emotions capable of driving men to heights of super achievement. Love is the emotion which serves as a safety valve, the calming agent that insures a constructive effort. When you combine these three emotions, you will lift yourself to an altitude and attitude of a genius.

"We are shaped and fashioned by what we love"
– Johann Wolfgang Von Goethe

All emotions are a state of mind. Nature has provided man with a chemistry of the mind which operates in a manner similar to the principles of chemistry of matter.

It is a known fact that through the aid of chemistry a scientist can create a deadly poison or explosive by mixing particular elements together, none of which individually are harmful. The emotions are similar in action, and may be combined so as to create something deadly.

By mixing the emotions of sex and jealousy it could turn a normal person into an insane maniac.

The mixing of any one or more of the destructive emotions in the mind can set up the scenario to create a poison which may destroy ones sense of justice, morality and fairness.

The road to genius consists of the developing, controlling, and using the combination of your sexual energy, your love, and your romance of your partner. This action of combining emotions can be in a personal relationship, visualizing a dream state, using your imagination or fantasizing your desires.

By placing these emotions, sexual energy, love, and romance, as the most dominating thoughts in your mind will eliminate the presence of destructive emotions.

The mind is a creature of habit. It thrives upon the dominating thoughts sent to it and accepts those dominant as truths. What the mind expects tends to be realized.

Through the faculty of willpower one may discourage the presence of any negative emotion and encourage the presence of creative thoughts and energy. Control of the mind using the power of will is not difficult. The secret of mind control lies in understanding the process of transmutation.

When any negative emotion presents itself in one's mind, it can be transmuted into a positive or constructive emotion by the simple procedure of changing your thoughts to the visualization of the completion of your desired goals. I call it cancelling that Stinkin Thinkin.

There is no other road to genius other than through self-thought. A man may attain great heights of financial or business acumen solely by the driving force of sexual energy, but history is filled with evidence that he may rob himself of the ability to either hold or enjoy his fortune.

This is worthy of analysis, thought, and meditation for it is a truth. Ignorance of this fact that lacking the emotions of love and romance has cost thousands of people their privilege of happiness, riches, and health.

Memories of love will never pass. They linger, guide you, and influence your emotions and actions long after the source of stimulation has faded. Every person who has been moved by genuine love knows that it leaves enduring traces upon the heart.

The effect of love endures because love is spiritual in nature. The man who cannot be stimulated to the greater heights of this achievement by love is hopelessly lost, he is dead inside, and never be able to enjoy the happiness, wealth, and health offered to him. This leads to the personality disorder of a psychopath or sociopath. Characterized by persistent antisocial behavior, impaired empathy and amoral personality.

“To conquer oneself is a greater task than conquering others.”
– Buddha

Go back into the memories of your mind and bathe yourself with the beautiful thoughts of your past loves. It will soften the influence of the present worries and annoyances. It will give you a source of escape from unpleasant realities of life, and your mind will yield to you, during this temporary retreat into the world of fantasy. And this could possibly change the entire financial and spiritual status of your life.

If you believe yourself unfortunate and a victim because you have loved and lost, perish that thought. Get rid of that stinkin thinkin. The person who has loved truly can never loose. Love is whimsical and temperamental. It comes when it pleases and goes away without warning. Enjoy it while it remains, but spend no time worrying about its departure.

Dismiss also the thought that love only comes once. Love may come and go many times, but there are no two love experiences that are the same, they will never affect you in the same way.

There may be one love experience which leaves a deeper imprint in the heart than all the others, but all love experiences are beneficial. But never be that person who becomes resentful and cynical when love makes its departure. There should be no disappointment over love and there would be none if people understand the difference between emotions of love and sex.

The major difference is that love is spiritual while sex is biological. No experience which touches the human heart with a spiritual force can possibly be harmful except through ignorance or jealousy.

Love is without question, is one of life's greatest experiences. It brings one into communion with the infinite universe. After all the Bible mentions numerous times “God is Love”. When mixed with the emotion of romance and sexual energy, it will lead one far up the ladder of creative and genius efforts. The emotions of love, sex, and romance are the sides of the eternal triangle of achievement for building success through your mind.

Love is an emotion with many sides, shades, and colors. But most of all, the intense and burning of all kinds of love is that experienced in the blending of love, romance and sex.

Marriages not blessed with the eternal affinity of love properly balanced and proportioned with romance and fulfilled sex cannot be happy ones, and seldom last. Love alone will not bring happiness into a marriage, as romance fades and sex stops. On the flip side, sex will not bring lasting happiness into a marriage. These relationships will be heading for an ending.

When these three beautiful emotions are blended, marriage may bring about a state of mind closest to the spiritual level that you may ever know.

When the emotion of romance is added to those of love and sex, the obstructions between the infinite mind of man and the infinite intelligence are removed. Then a genius has been born.

THE HUNTER

Man's greatest motivating force is his desire to please his woman. The hunter who excelled during prehistoric days before the dawn of civilization did so because of his desire to appear great in the eyes of his woman. Of course man's nature has not changed in this respect. The hunter of today brings home no skins of wild animals but he has extreme desire for her favor by supplying a living, food, clothes, automobiles, wealth and achievement.

Man has the same desire to please women that he had before the dawn of civilization. The only thing that has changed is his method of pleasing. Men who accumulate large fortunes and attain great heights of power and fame do so, to satisfy their desire to please a women. Take the women out of their lives, and great wealth diminishes and becomes useless. It is this inherent desire of man to please a women which gives women the power to make or break a man.

The woman who understands a man's nature, ability and sexual drive will tactfully caters to it. She also need have no fear of competition from other women. Men may be giants when dealing with other men, but they are easily managed and controlled like a puppy dog by the woman of their choice.

Most men will not admit that they are easily influenced by the woman they prefer, because it is the nature of the male wanting to be recognized as the stronger of the species. The intelligent woman recognizes this manly trait and very wisely makes no issue of it. Some men know that they are being influenced by the women of their choice, their wives, sweethearts, partners, mothers, or sisters but they tactfully refrained from rebelling against the influence because they are knowledgeable enough to know that no man is happy or complete without the modifying influence of the right woman.

The man who does not recognize this important truth deprives himself of the power which has done more to help men achieve success than all other forces combine.

“There is a thinking stuff from which all things are made, and which, in its original state, permeates, penetrates, and fills the innerspaces of the universe. A thought, in this substance, produces the thing that is imaged by the thought.

Man can form things in his thought, and, by impressing his thought upon formless substance, can cause the thing he thinks about to be created.”

– Wallace D. Wattles
